

High brows

A new breed of arch gurus go beyond defuzzing your face to defining it By Jennifer Romolini

In the world of word association, the combination of "brow" and "guru" doesn't immediately jump to mind, but in the last year, professional eyebrow shaping has become a coveted business that extends far beyond a $7 wax at the neighborhood beauty parlor. Brow cleanups now eschew the scary molten stuff and involve a thorough evaluation of your face, an expert sculpting utilizing either tweezers or thread (sometimes both), and products to take home such as powders and pencils. The result is a clean, personalized north-of-the-eye look that's

