How Much Does Eyebrow Waxing Cost?

Eyebrow waxing is a facial hair-removal treatment that can be done in the comfort of your own home, or by a professional in a salon. Eyebrow waxing is ideal for individuals who have thick eyebrows with stray hairs growing above and below the brow. Eyebrow waxing is not recommended for individuals with very thin eyebrows. Eyebrow shaping can be done with small scissors or clippers, laser hair removal, a razor, tweezers, by waxing or by eyebrow threading. Although waxing is arguably the most painful method, it is also the fastest and most precise. Eyebrow waxing varies in price because of the wax used, the reputation of the salon that offers it, and the demand of the waxing technician.

Function

Although it is a misconception that hair always grows back thicker and darker after being removed, your hair will probably grow back after tweezing, threading, trimming or waxing. This is because each hair is contained inside its own tiny pocket called a pilosebaceous unit, where the shaft of the hair, the sebaceous gland, which secretes oils called "sebum," and the hair follicle are located. When you tweeze or wax a hair, the hair shaft will be removed, but not the pilosebaceous unit. This allows more hair to grow a few weeks to several months after waxing your eyebrows. The only way to permanently remove unwanted hair is by getting laser hair removal, which is painful and expensive.

Benefits

More expensive eyebrow waxing is operated out of a specialty waxing salon, like Shobha or Anastasia Brow Studio in New York City. Waxing salons can provide a more comfortable atmosphere for patrons, but usually comes with a larger price tag. High-end hair salons may also provide high-quality eyebrow waxing services. High-end eyebrow waxing ranges from $20 to $500 for a session. You must still exercise caution before booking an appointment for a high-end eyebrow wax.
