Y'all, I think that somewhere in my ancestry my genes crossed with those of a billy goat. A few years ago, there truly was a line in my monthly budget that read 'body waxing' and it was in the three digits most months. Tons of money literally ripped out of--and off of--my arm! So I decided to learn how to remove body and facial hair myself, and I've tried a lot of products, but for facial hair, especially nothing feels safer and is less sticky than the Shobha Sugaring Kit ($29.99)! Here's why: 1) It's gentler and less painful than regular wax! For a really long time, I just couldn't get the knack for waxing my face because I was terrified that I might do some serious damage.

Because the Shobha Sugaring Kit is all natural (free of parabens, dyes, fragrances, petrol, resin, and wax) there's way less of a chance of a negative reaction or irritation. And unlike waxing, when you sugar, cleanup truly is just a wet washcloth away - the stickiness easily dissolves on contact with water! Because the ingredients are truly just sugar, water, citric acid, and glycerin, Shobha Sugaring Kit is vegan friendly!

2) It's fast! Just microwave the big jar of sugaring gel that comes in the Shobha Sugaring Kit for a few seconds, powder the areas you want to wax with the enclosed talc-free powder, spread the gel with the spatula included, press and rip with the really nice denim strips that come inside, and you're (mostly) hair-free!!! Just like in the salon, there will be a few stubborn hairs that don't want to come out, so keep your tweezers handy.

3) It's way cheap but high quality! The packaging and products themselves are really beautiful, look great, and smell lovely. Seriously, for $30, you get over $300 worth of salon waxing with the Shobha Sugaring Kit - the only thing you might have to buy more of are removal strips - I tend to go through them faster than most of my friends, so you may not have this need.

So what are you waiting for? Break the chains with your current hair removal system and try the Shobha Sugaring Kit today!
