Who is Kimmie ? Well you may have seen her on HSN or in the ads for Sebago shoes or even in Cosmo magazine. She was just named one of the most influential bloggers in fashion. If you don't know now you do. After 4 years of giving us fashion ,food and fun on Kitten lounge Kimmie threw a Fashion Week fete at Shobha eyebrow threading salon in midtown to celebrate. If you have never been here it's a must! Centrally located on at 3 Columbus ave on the 7th floor is a bright bubbly oasis escape from the hustle and bustle of New York City streets. Shobha creates their own rose oil and rose water products and they smell absolutely intoxicating.

Kimmie Smith and her lovely sister Dorian greeted guests and showed us around.

Even though I'd gotten a brow wax the other day I was told that threading could clean it up just a bit more , so I took the plunge . My technician spritzed a lovely rose water concoction to my brows afterward . This not only soothed the area but made quite the impression on my sense of smell. Here is my after shot . This was taken with my new Windows HTC Trophy phone .

Curious about the process at Shobha Salon? Well since I was there I found out from Shobha's marketing director about their unique approach to hair removal. My HTC Video will be up soon. In the meantime be sure to check out Kimmie at KittenLounge.com. Meow!
