

YogaDork 2011 Holiday Gift Guide

It's the most wonnnderful time of the yeeear...No wait. Come back! We won't sing the rest, we promise. You'll be ready to hug/pound Andy Williams and a few other caroling friends by the time the year is out. But, before all that, no time like the present. Yay, presents! There's no denying the holiday season is upon us, and if we were good little yogadorks all year we'll be receiving some awesome gifts this season. If we're good little yogadorks who want to show our gratitude and appreciation we'll be giving some awesome gifts to all the incredible folks we love.

The 2011 YD Holiday Gift Guide has something for everyone on your list, for any budget and level of yogadorkification. And uh, you might even decide to share it with some of your favorite givers as well. Happy Holidays!

for beauty junkies/yogis (hey, aren't we all slashies?): organic skincare to-go – jack had beans, modern day yogis carry a lot more in their bags. for complexion perfection on the go, pamper someone with the sprout skincare travel kit (\$50.00 for the set; \$10 per travel size product) for sweaty yogis (bikram-addicts): birdbath in a wipe – no matter how sweaty the mat, come out of class smelling like roses with a handy travel pouch. (3 pack for \$21) for vegan yogis: snakaroons – everyone likes a sweet treat, and if it's raw and vegan it leave less guilt without slacking on the indulgence end. choose among these flavor combos: goji, cocoa & maca; banana & coconut; pineapple macadamia (\$8.99)