this post goes with my other product praising post about skincare products. here's some cosmetics love:

products from smooch! in frederick, maryland someone i know owns smooch! makeup boutique in downtown frederick, md. & i love visiting her fun store!

i use the foundation primer, the custom made lip gloss (i will be writing a post on this topic soon), magic wand, heal & conceal, various mascaras, bronzing powder, gel shadows & liners, & sparkly ultimate eyeliner pencil- all pictured above. also, the fan brush that smooch sells will last for years. best application tool for cheek color!

my foundations

i use either a mineral powder foundation or a liquid plus usually a concealer. i like arbonne concealer because it blends great and never breaks my skin out. it looks like they changed their packaging back to the old green style. i love bare minerals foundation, especially since they added the golden tones. neutrogena healthy skin liquid makeup the the best liquid i have found that you can score for cheap at target. this same line has a brightening eye perfecter that i may try when i run out of my smooch magic wand because it's a lot cheaper, so worth a try.

shobha products are the shizzle (sorry about that word, but it goes with shobha. sorta.). i use several shobha products, but the rosewater freshening cloths & brow pencil happen to be my top 2 faves. there are so many good things about these products, you should check out the vids on both. now, full disclosure, i used to work for shobha, but that's not why i love & continue to use these products long after working for shobha. there's just nothing better to replace them with. oooo-that bow pencil! sharpener is in the lid, box is made of stone but feels more like paper & directions are printed inside the box! the rosewater cloths smell delish & can be used on ALL external body parts. of course, its all very safe & natural. if you're in nyc, you should def visit a shobha salon for brow shaping & body hair removal. now 4 locations! you won't be disappointed.

i gotta squeeze in this shobha exfoliating cloth. all natural, bacteria free, lasts for a year! like a loofah, only waaaay better.

next installment of my beauty product laundry list will include hair products (didja know that i'm a licensed cosmetologist?), nail products & fragrance.
