What is Eyebrow Waxing?

Eyebrow waxing is a semi permanent process of eyebrow hair removal that gets rids of hair from its root. It is semi-permanent because eventually after around 2 to 8 weeks, the plucked hair will grow back. Eyebrow waxing is not only done to eyebrows but also other hairs including leg, face, arms, back, abdomen, bikini area, etc. This process is done by mainly women, although a few men wax their eyebrows too. Waxing of eyebrows can be done both at home and in professional salons.

- Professional salons for eyebrow waxing have experts who are both experienced with some of them being licensed cosmetologist and aesthetician. This will ensure you get the best of services. - Wax warmer
- Pellon strips or muslin
- Wax remover

Steps for Home Eyebrow Waxing

Once you have all the things you require, you can follow the below steps for perfect waxing of eyebrows:

1. Before you begin on eyebrow waxing, shape your eyebrows to the desired shape. See more on How to Shape Eyebrows for tips, ideas, process and much more. You can also see the popular eyebrow shapes too to get an idea.
2. Hold back your hair to avoid it being waxed as during eyebrow waxing.
3. If necessary, trim your eyebrows. People who have bushy eyebrows, both men and women can learn how to tame busy eyebrows for more insight. Also, see how to trim eyebrows, tips, steps, ideas.
4. Before you apply wax, you need to apply pre-wax cleanser. This cleanser can be followed by some light powder application. This two are important if you want to get the best results from your effort on how to wax eyebrows or home eyebrow waxing.
5. Using your eyebrow wax applicator, apply wax in the directly that your eyebrows grow. You need to be very careful to ensure all the eyebrows you want to remove have wax. However, do not apply a very thick wax layer because it is unnecessary. You will have to warm your wax before you apply it. When applying wax, you need to apply ONLY on hairs you want to remove and leave those you do not want to remove.
6. The next step in eyebrow waxing is to cover your eyebrow with a strip (pellon or muslin) in the direction of your eyebrow growth. You should leave a part of the strip (extra) on the right sight to use when removing your strip. Firmly, press the strip in the direction, which your eyebrow grows several times to ensure it has been attached to the hairs, and let it cool slightly.
7. By grasping the piece of strip that extended beyond the right side of your eyebrow and holding your eyebrow skin taut with the other hand, remove the strip with one single quick pull in the opposite direction of hair growth and not upwards. Many people do the mistake of pulling up instead of to the direction opposite eyebrow growth. If any hairs are remaining, replace back the strip and pull it again. The process might be a bit painful and you will be required to soothe the area.
8. You have completed eyebrow waxing for one side of your eyebrow. Repeat the steps 5, 6 and 7 on other areas you need. For instance, if you began with lower right side of the left eyebrow, you need to go the upper side and the middle of your brows before going to the left eyebrow and repeating the steps.
9. Any remaining hairs that will be remaining can be removed using tweezers. You can then fine tune your eyebrows and ensure they are in the shape you wanted without any mistakes.
10. Clean any remaining wax using petroleum jelly, baby oil or wax remover.
11. Apply after wax jelly or lotion, especially an aloe vera based one
