

vagina-cure. taming the unwanted coif

february 20, 2014

Ladies, take a look down at your cooters now and tell me what you see.

A bush? A short beard? A stubble patch? Smooth, bump-free skin? If you've got a bush that is of your choosing, I commend you; BRAVO sista! Godspeed to you! If you have a bush that is not of your own volition but of your negligence, continue to read cause we can't be having that former bald-eagle. I'm assuming the rest of you are mid-shave or wax or just too tired and or broke to shell out $75+ just to lay full spread as a woman rips every ounce of patience and faith in men and humanity one pube and follicle at a time. I feel you sistas and Cheech McGeech has found perhaps THE best wax in the world that estheticians loathe simply because our attempt to DIY our cooters will eventually leave them broke. How say you now brown cows?

wax your own cooter:

and experience a high you never thought possible.

So after a year of getting my fucking pussy abused by estheticians, I've had enough of that shit--the traveling, the prep, the held breaths and bloody lips from biting as you mentally prep for every single pull. Cause somehow holding your breath will make it less painful, right? No. Shit still hurts because she comes in and pulls from an angle you didn't expect and all hell breaks loose.

So I stumbled into my local beauty supply store and found SURGI Brazilian Wax Kit. Now let me just start by saying that I had contemplated doing this for a while but debated whether it was worth buying the official kit with the warmer and strips or buying a microwaveable one. And then I saw this puppy that was STRIP-LESS which means none of those silk heavy duty cloths they use to smooth the hair down and rip.

so here's how this shit goes down:

Just some information: This is ideal for someone who is a regular waxer or has a relatively short hair, preferably a quarter of an inch. Now that doesn't mean my bush ladies are out of the running, it means that bushwhacking is going to be really fucking painful, you're gonna be really mad at me and call me a liar and give up with a ball of wax still stuck to your pubes. By the way, the only way to get that out is to rip.

The shorter your hair the LESS painful it will be. I've suggested to some of my friends who are on the unkempt side to go to a ONE-TIME BRAZILIAN wax at a good and LEGIT establishment, not at your local manicure place or a rundown spot offering to mangle and deform your cooter for $25. I go to Shobha or European Wax Center or a place that looks like the people know what they're doing and one that DOESN'T DOUBLE DIP. That shit is real. How do you tell your significant other you got the clap or herpes from a waxing spot? HA Good luck with that. Once you get that first spotless cleaning, it's easy to maintain with waxes like Surgi.
