With so many different hair removal kits on the market today, it can be very confusing trying to decide what you're going to use to get rid of that winter coat. Since my assistant Nicole and I have had the opportunity to test out loads of products (and we mean a lot!) we wanted to share what worked the best for us and give our top picks with different budgets and methods in mind for men and women.

Naomi's pick

Sugaring removes the hair from the root like waxing and lasts for weeks, but is known to be much gentler to the skin and hurt less than waxing. This kit (previously called Madhu Mini) has the same products used at the very popular Shobha salons in New York City.

You'll get everything you need to sugar at home for about $ 30, including the most adorable denim strips that can be washed and re-used. Since it's heated in the microwave, you might need to re-zap the sugar to keep it the right temperature to easily remove the hair. But I think it's well worth it.
